

As a 59 year old person who has lost so much information for many years (am always behind everyone else), it is time now that I am treated as equal as everyone else. Equal access is what I'm referring to. TV Captioning is available but not everyone broadcast it. Improvement is necessary if we are to be expected to be treated as equal. Remember the days of silent movies and people complained of no sound. There were no laws or rules at that time. Shame we needs regulations to enforce captioning.
